

Karen Renee Robb Bio

Karen Renee Robb believes that feelings of joy come from experiencing something beautiful. Creations of beauty can be many things: music, art, poetry, painting, drawing, dancing, observing a tree, garden or photograph, singing a song, playing an instrument, cooking a meal, planting a flower, or something as simple as a heartfelt hug or a genuine smile.

Born in Baltimore, Maryland and raised in Ann Arbor, Michigan, Karen Renee Robb is a natural born leader and performer with a love for creating and promoting beauty. She is a visionary who sees possibility and potential in every person she meets and in every project she takes on.

Karen's supports her soul's purpose through entertaining as an inspirational vocalist and through designing and promoting creations of beauty as a marketing professional.

After graduating from the University of Michigan where she studied music and received a vocal performance scholarship, Karen began to use her musical talents to provide inspiration to others. She has entertained as a soloist for private parties, churches, weddings, memorial services and charity benefit concerts. She has performed The National Anthem at professional sporting events many times and was the female vocalist winner in the 1994 Oakland A's National Anthem contest. She has also taught private vocal lessons and musical theater classes in the San Francisco Bay Area where she lived after marrying photographer Kevin Peter Schlatt, who loves to create and capture beauty with his camera.

Thinking she wanted to be a fashion buyer, Karen earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in Materials and Logistics Management, with an emphasis in purchasing. She began her career with Apple Computer as a New Product Operations Specialist and progressed through other opportunities at Digidesign, Gibson Guitar and Griffin Technology where she has held positions as Director of Marketing Services, Media/Promotions Manager, and Marketing Product Launch Manager. Karen loves to bring clarity to chaos by organizing, prioritizing, planning and executing projects related to creations of beauty.

Karen Renee enjoys bringing her own vision to life while inspiring and teaching others to create beauty. She attends Unity Church for Positive Living where she provides special music for services, serves as a Sunday school teacher for the UniKids, and assists with the church's marketing initiatives. She is a Nashville Cable member working with the Diversity Committee and a volunteer for the Nashville Chamber Orchestra.

The name Renee means reborn and rebirth is exactly what she experienced when she and her husband moved to Nashville in 2000. Neither of them had a job secured when they arrived but they had a dream and the faith to back it up! Now settled in the Mt. Juliet area, Karen Renee openly speaks her truth in a way that benefits others.
